Work resumes on the Moreton Bay Ramsar Wetlands project

Contractors, Bushtekniq returned to the Melaleuca Wetlands last week for the start of the second of a four-year project to reduce weeds and restore habitat. The project, supported by Healthy Land and Water through funding from the Australian Government's National Landcare Program enables Coastcare to oversee staged rehabilitation of our valued wetland ecosystems in collaboration with Redland City Council.

Thanks to those volunteers who lent a hand. We look forward to another visit in October and recommend members who want to hone their bush rehabilitation skills to spend an hour or so working alongside Jono, Tali and Anna.

Meantime, Coastcare volunteers continue maintenance works around the six waterways and coastal zones.

Thank-you RedVic Lions for your support

We're grateful for the generosity of hardworking members of RedVic Lions who donated $500 to Coastcare to support rehabilitation efforts on Coochiemudlo. Special thanks to RedVic Lion's Immediate President, Natalie Reinke who presented Coastcare President, Vivienne Roberts-Thomson with a cheque at last weekend's Redland Bay markets. We welcome members suggestions for use of these funds to further our conservation works
