Open invitation to hear AGM Guest Speaker, Dr Michael Gourlay

After the AGM formalities, there's an open invitation to the community to attend an address by Dr Michael Gourlay on "Coastal engineering and Small Islands" from about 3.25pm.

For many years, a member of Engineers Australia's National Committee on Coastal and Ocean Engineering, Michael was lead author of the first edition of NCCOE's Coastal Engineering Guidelines and compiled a History of Coastal Engineering in Australia for International conferences.

Early in his career Michael spent a year in the Netherlands doing laboratory research on the erosion of sand dunes and later was involved in research into the coastal and marine processes which form and maintain coral cays on reefs within the Great Barrier Reef.

Since 1991 Michael and his wife, Jacqui, accompanied by one of several miniature dachshunds, have enjoyed several days a month in their Coochie cottage and on the island's beaches.
